

Adirondacks Hike to Wolf Pond

The trail for Wolf Pond begins 10 miles from I-87 on Blue Ridge Road, a twisty corridor off Exit 29 of I-87. Once we are on Blue Ridge Road, there were views of mountains and more than half a dozen trailheads to explore. The trail is pretty easy except for a few short, moderately steep areas. If you're like me, you'll barely notice the inclines. Everything changes as Wolf Pond comes into view. There's a brand new lean-to set back from the shore that's a great place to hang out, check out the floating bog. Follow the trail along the shore, to a makeshift log bridge.
